AMA Top Contributor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Medical Association's political committees contributed $1.8 million in the last congressional election and were the largest single source of special-interest contributions, according to Common Cause.

Business and corporate trade associations nearly tripled their 1974 donations in 1976, the selfstyled citizen's lobby said Monday.

"Special interest political giving for congressional candidates was truly a growth industry in 1976," said Common Cause vice president Fred Wertheimer, who directed the monitoring project.

"This pattern is bound to continue in the 1978 elections, unless major steps are taken in Congress to reduce the role and the influence of special-interest money," he said.

House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona led all the House recipients of such funds with $99,000 from business, professional and agricultural groups. He won re-election handily in what had been expected to be a close race.

Ohio congressmen on the list were Reps. Samuel Devine, R-Ohio, with $57,625 and Thomas Ashley, D-Ohio, $45,772.

Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, who lost his re-election race, led Senate candidates in gifts from business, professional and agricultural groups with $187,168.

Former Indiana Sen. Vance Hartke raised $245,000 from special interests, including $143,000 from labor, according to Common Cause. But Hartke, a Democrat who chaired the Commerce Committee's surface-transportation subcommittee, lost anyway.

Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., chairman of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, followed Hartke in receipts from interest groups with $244,000, including more than $149,000 from labor groups.

Special-interest groups altogether gave $22,571,912 to candidates for Congress last year, almost double their $12,525,586 of 1974, Common Cause said.

Last year's totals included $11.5 million from business, professional and agricultural sources and $8.2 million from labor groups. Common Cause also listed $1.5 million in contributions from ideological groups and nearly $1.3 million from miscellaneous sources.

"The most dramatic increases were in contributions by corporate and business trade association political committees," Common Cause said. "In 1976 they contributed over $7.1 million to congressional candidates, almost 300 per cent more than the $2.5 million they contributed in 1974."

Contributions from unions increased by about $2 million over 1974.

Following the AMA groups in individual categories were the dairy industry groups, which provided $1.4 million. The AFL-CIO political committees gave approximately $1 million. Committees of maritime-related unions gave $980,000.

Rep. Jim Mattox, D-Tex., was the leading recipient of labor money for a House race with $59,931.

The list of special interest spending was based on reports filed with the Federal Election Commission.

Assembly Resumes Committee Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to crack down on shady rental agents headed to the House floor today but most of this week's legislative activity will again be in committees.

Leaders concede this year's session of the General Assembly is off to a slow beginning, partly due to the energy crisis but mostly because a deliberate go-slow approach by majority Democrats.

Rep. Patrick A. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, called today for passage of his measure to license rental agents offering lists of available apartments and other rental units for a fee.

Committee testimony indicated the bill is needed to crack down on fly-by-night agents who compile such lists from newspapers and other sources, often without knowledge of the owners.

Senators, at least some, returned from weekend recess Monday night for a brief floor session devoid of any action. Bills could not be referred to committees—a routine item of business—because someone lost the only copy of a committee reference report. Without a quorum of the 33 members, no bills were introduced.

Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, said he saw no reason for speeding into this year's schedule of business. He indicated, in fact, that he is not so sure things are going all that slow.

"We took a break for a couple of weeks two years ago," he said. The lawmakers were in recess for three weeks this year "while bills were being processed," he said.

However, under questioning, the 51-year-old Senate leader said majority Democrats will proceed with caution on Gov. James A. Rhodes' $14.5 billion two-year operating budget.

Two years ago, he said Rhodes withdrew his support from a controversial scheme to require advance payments of corporate taxes, throwing his own budget out of balance. "He accused us of passing a budget that was out of balance. Actually, we didn't — there's going to be money left over at the beginning of the next fiscal year. But we got blamed for passing an unbalanced budget," Ocasek said.

He said he and House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, had agreed that the budget will remain in the House until near the end of April—instead of April 10, as planned—before being sent to the Senate.

Ocasek said this will give the House a chance to know more about the economic impact of this year's weather-related shutdowns of industries and schools. But he said "we have to have it by May 1.

The Senate will need at least two months on it."

The 1977-1979 biennium starts July 1.

Reasons Pondered For Shooting Spree By 'Nazi' Suicide

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — A handful of facts and a dual personality of a "gentle man" and a Nazi worshiper were all authorities had today in their search for why 34-year-old Fred Cowan shot and killed five persons at the warehouse where he worked.

The army-trained sharpshooter wiped out chances to provide an answer himself when he put a bullet in his brain Monday and ended a 10-hour siege by 300 police and federal agents.

Although Cowan appeared to be motivated by revenge against his employer over a two-week suspension from his job, he issued no major demands once inside the warehouse.

"He was a very gentle man who loved children," said a sister-in-law, Mary Ellen Cowan. Added a neighbor in this Westchester County community about 1½ miles north of the New York City line: "He was always a nice boy."

But others remembered the hulking, six-foot, 250 pounder, who attended Catholic grammar and high schools and was described as a brilliant student, an avid gun collector and lover of Nazi uniforms.

He covered his body with tattoos — swastikas, German crosses, knives, chains, thunder, lightning, lions, and panthers — and festooned the walls of his room with swastikas.

"He hates blacks," said one neighbor, Roland Lersch. "He hates Jews."

Cowan's victims included two blacks, an Indian, and one white, all fellow employes at the Neptune Worldwide Moving Co., where the gunman worked as a furniture mover. The fifth victim was New Rochelle police officer Allan McLeod, 29, married and the father of two children.

Five persons were injured, including three other policemen.

The siege began shortly before 8 a.m. at the two-story warehouse in a commercial neighborhood of small industrial buildings, interspersed with filling stations and garages.

Cowan was to have returned to work Monday, the end of the two-week suspension caused by a difference with a supervisor.

POSTAL CHANGE — Jack M. Green, left, is officer in charge of the Circleville Post Office as of Saturday when Harry L. Payne retired from the postmaster's position. He is being sworn in by Robert Lancia, postal system examiner of the Columbus district. Green, a resident of Columbus, will be in charge of the local office until a postmaster is selected. The process usually takes four to six months. He started at the Columbus Post office in 1949 as a carrier. He has been in management for the past seven years at Station G. Green is the state treasurer of the National Association of Postal Supervisors and his wife Phyllis is the second vice president of the state's auxiliary.

Find Unsafe Bridge Problem Worsening

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Iowa children were killed when a school bus crashed through a bridge guardrail last August. Despite the guardrail's deficiency, state highway workers used the same type rail as a replacement, federal safety officials say.

The National Transportation Safety Board feels the incident underscores a growing nationwide problem with deteriorating and unsafe bridges.

The board, in a report released today, said the guardrail on a bridge near Neola, Iowa, was deficient and "would not offer an appropriate level of protection even to automobiles."

The report criticized the Iowa Department of Transportation for not using a stronger rail as a replacement.

While the problem of unsafe bridges confronts federal, state and local highway officials, funds to repair the bridges are limited.

The Department of Transportation has classified 34,600 bridges on federal highways as deficient, and says replacements would cost $10 billion. Thousands of bridges on local roads are in the same class.

Sen. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, in a Senate speech on the problem last week, called the situation "critical."

"Many of these bridges are simply unsafe and should be repaired or replaced immediately, but it is becoming obvious that demands far outstrip the available financial resources," Culver said.

He said $180 million is authorized annually through 1978 for work on structurally deficient or obsolete bridges on federal highways.

He and several other senators have introduced a bill that would increase the annual amount to $600 million, with 15 per cent of the funds allocated to each state to be used on bridges under county control.

In the Iowa case, the driver and 29 other children also were injured when the school bus crashed through the rail and over a concrete parapet last Aug. 6. The bus landed on its roof and an embankment 15 feet below the bridge.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — All state liquor stores, agencies, and departmental offices will be closed Feb. 21, in honor of President's Day, the Department of Liquor Control announced.

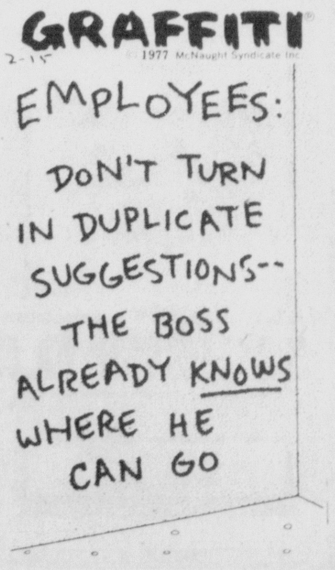
Heart Disease Is Expensive

"As if the 950,000 lives lost every year to heart disease were not enough, the economic consequences are also tragic," says Drexel Poling, business chairman of this year's Pickaway County Heart Campaign.

"Lost output due to disability and medical expenses is expected to top $26.7 billion in 1977," Poling said. "All because of heart diseases.

"The loss of men and women between ages 45 and 64 is especially significant because executives and employees in that age bracket are among industry's most productive," Poling said. "The loss and retraining of key personnel with critical skills represents costs that cannot be overlooked by any businessman."

During American Heart Month in February, the Pickaway County Heart Association joins the nationwide effort to fight for lives lost to heart and blood vessel diseases. Area businesses will be asked to make a contribution to the research, education and community service programs of the Pickaway County Heart Association, and to pass out heart-saving information to their personnel.



Carter Dinner Features Amy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration's first state dinner featured Amy Carter, her cat, concert pianist Rudolf Serkin and a surprise performer, the first lady of Mexico.

President and Mrs. Carter got all their guests away early and dispensed with a few frills as they gave a warm-hearted salute to Mexican President and Mrs. Jose Lopez Portillo on Monday night.

Nine-year-old Amy was among the 103 dinner guests and was seated at a table with her parents and the Mexican guests of honor.

President Lopez Portillo smilingly disclosed in his dinner toast that Amy had been reading "'The Mystery of the Screaming Clock' right here at the table."

Amy's Siamese cat, Misty Malarky Ying Yang, tried to come to the party, too. The cat made a dramatic entrance down the grand staircase while photographers were waiting for the Carters and the Lopez Portillos to descend.

Misty was turned back by flash bulbs and a military aide.

After dinner Mrs. Lopez Portillo, a former concert pianist, played two selections from Chopin's works.

In introducing Mrs. Lopez Portillo, who once studied piano at the University of Michigan, Carter said she gave up her career to marry "the man she recognized as future president of Mexico."

Mrs. Lopez Portillo complained she had not played in public in 20 years, but her performance drew an ovation from the audience and a kiss from Carter.

Serkin, the famous concert pianist, performed afterwards. "We tried to find the best performer in our country," Carter said, because of the Mexican first lady's interest in music.

Carter, who frequently listens to classical music in his office, disclosed that "eight or 10 hours every day I listen to music similar to what he's going to play tonight."

After Serkin's performance of Mendelssohn and Beethoven was greeted with prolonged applause, the President said, "It was almost worth campaigning for two years just to come here and hear that."

Weather

Partly cloudy with chance of snow today and a high in the middle 20s. Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday. Low tonight between five and 10 degrees with a high Wednesday in the upper 20s. Chances of precipitation, 30 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight and 10 per cent Wednesday. Monday's high was 34 with a low of 11. One and one-quarter inches of new snow fell during the past 24 hours, leaving a total of two inches on the ground.

Metropolitan Busing Of Children Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Civil Rights Commission says children in large metropolitan areas should be bused between the inner city and the suburbs to reverse a trend of increasing segregation in big-city schools.

"While elsewhere much progress has been made in desegregating public schools," the commission said, "it is these children of the cities more than any others who have yet to reap any benefit from the promise" of equal educational opportunity.

The commission, in a 119page report released today, said, "the problem is growing worse, not better" as "the boundaries between cities and suburbs have become not merely political dividing lines but barriers that separate people by race and economic class."

The report comes two days after Atty. Gen. Griffin B. Bell said that he believes the Supreme Court has narrowed the scope of busing that may be ordered by federal judges to achieve desegregation.

Last summer the bipartisan commission created a controversy with a study that found busing to desegregate schools was working smoothly in most cities. The study accused then-President Gerald R. Ford of trying to "curb" court-ordered busing.

Some critics charged the study was rigged in favor of busing.

In its latest report, which caps a three-year study, the bipartisan commission rejected claims that desegregating schools across city and suburban borders would require more busing, long trips and tremendous administrative problems. Experience shows travel time can actually be reduced, the panel said, and school district mergers long have been commonplace.

Great Rain Robbery Plan Brings Fight

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — In the midst of the Northwest's worst drought in years, Idaho has warned Washington not to try The Great Rain Robbery.

Oregon and Washington governors fear 76,800 farm jobs will be lost, along with $1.6 billion worth of crops, because drought has left reservoirs and rivers almost dry. Major power shortages also are feared, and industries depending on hydroelectric power already are laying off workers.

Some Washington officials are asking the state to try a $125,000 cloudseeding project over the almost snowless Cascade Mountains.

But inland states like Idaho and Montana get much of their moisture from the same clouds off the Pacific Ocean that drop rain and snow on Washington and Oregon.

Idaho Atty. Gen. Wayne Kidwell warned Monday that his state will go to court to prevent rain rustling. A University of Idaho geographer has predicted that northern Idaho and western Montana could lose 10 per cent of expected rainfall if Washington grabs the moisture first.

"I appreciate Washington's problems," said Kidwell. "But ... there is sufficient evidence to indicate a good possibility that what would be good for Washington's potential drought could be even more detrimental to Idaho's pending crisis situation."

Yet, there is great pressure on Washington and Oregon officials to act quickly.

Utility and federal officials say that unless the dry spell ends soon, there won't be enough water behind hydroelectric dams to generate sufficient electricity.

Unusual patterns of air pressure have caused the drought, weathermen say, and moisture that normally would bathe the Northwest has hit the Midwest and East.

Unsuspecting Bonneville Power Administration officials sold 1.6 billion kilowatts of electricity to California early this winter, before anyone knew there would be a crisis. Officials call that early winter generosity awkward and embarrassing.

Now, utilities say there is a good possibility electricity will be rationed this summer.

Says 'Roots' Sparked Incident

CINCINNATI (AP) — The television showing of "Roots" triggered a 42 year-old Utica, Mich., man's desire to bring his family back together and resulted in his 15-hour seige with eight hostages in a home for unwed mothers, his attorney said Monday.

"This man sat on this for 20 years, and the dynamite was 'Roots'," said Eugene Smith, attorney for 42-year-old Jessie Coulter of Utica, Mich.

During the siege that began Friday night at the Catherine Booth home, Coulter, demanded the return of his son who was born at the home 20 years before. The child had been put up for adoption.

Smith said his client had been frustrated over the loss of his son for some time.

"Jessie told me when he saw Chicken George (a character in the novel by Alex Haley) get his own family back together, he couldn't help himself," Smith said. "He had to come back to Cincinnati and get the kid."

Coulter and his ex-wife Rita Gibran were arraigned Monday in Criminal Court and their cases were continued until Friday. Bond was set at $1 million each.

Smith said, after Monday's hearing, that Coulter saw similarities between his life and the television serial that concluded 12 days before he came to Cincinnati and which traces the author's family.

Brake Failure Crash Cause?

CHICAGO (AP) — The motorman of an elevated train has told a federal investigator that all brakes failed shortly before his train rammed the rear of another Feb. 4, killing 11 persons.

Stephen Martin, 34, denied Monday night that he was in possession of four marijuana cigarettes that police said they found in his shoulder bag after the downtown rush-hour accident.

Nearly 200 people were injured in the crash of the Chicago Transit Authority trains.

Martin's statements were in a tape-recorded interview conducted by his attorney and witnessed by Gerald Strawser, a National Transportation Safety Board investigator.

Martin said he applied brakes on his train when he saw another train stopped just short of a transit station.

"Nothing happened," he said. "The train didn't stop."

His attorney, Sherwood Levin, asked Martin if he felt the brakes engage.

"No, I don't know," Martin replied. "All I know is the train kept going and I thought it should be stopping."

CTA officials have said the crash was caused by "man failure" and blamed Martin.

Flynt Plans Distribution Of Hustler

CINCINNATI (AP) — Publisher Larry Flynt has emerged from six days in jail, threatening to set up his own distribution system if necessary to sell Hustler magazine in Hamilton County.

A three-judge state appellate court panel agreed Monday to let Flynt go free on a total of $55,000 bail while he is appealing convictions of pandering obscenity and engaging in organized crime.

Flynt was sentenced to 7 to 25 years in prison and a total of $11,000 in fines on those charges in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court last Tuesday.

He also had to post $6,000 bail to go free on a charge of disseminating material which is harmful to juveniles. He is still awaiting trial in Hamilton County on those charges.

"In order to sell my magazine, if I have to I will sell it myself on the street corners," Flynt told a throng of reporters awaiting his release from the county jail.

"No one can keep me from selling my magazine," the 34-year-old Flynt continued, his voice rising nearly to a shriek as tears welled in his eyes. "There are those in this country who will say I am continuing in the name of pornography, but I will continue in the name of freedom."

Flynt acknowledged his own reputation had not made his case such a celebrated one, but rather he said it had become trial of his right to publish his magazine which has a circulation of 1,433,000 according to an independent audit.

College Students Question Religion

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — College students don't want to fritter away time in organized religions that are a maze of bureaucracy, according to the new Protestant campus minister at the University of Akron.

"Young people are not antagonistic toward organized religion if it offers meaningful involvement in answering questions that to them need to be answered," said the Rev. Robert G. Clarke, 49, who spent nine years as chaplain and political science instructor at Otterbein College in Westerville.

Collegians have been unimpressed with churches that say, "You must believe in my doctrinal positions, and then I'll be interested in you as a human being," the Rev. Mr. Clarke said.

He said young people say: "I want you first to show interest in me as a human being. Then sit down and talk about your doctrinal positions."

It pleased him as well as Frost, that the students joined forces during a tragic time.

Governor Rhodes Makes Presentation To FFA

COLUMBUS — Governor James Rhodes presented a check to the Ohio FFA at their annual Legislative breakfast to use in the "Building Our American Communities" program.

Mark Sanborn, State FFA President, accepted the $35,000 check on behalf of all FFA members. The money is provided through a Federal Rural Rehabilitation fund administered by the Farmers Home Administration and the Ohio Department of Agriculture. This $35,000 is designated to assist local FFA chapters to initiate community improvements. The local chapter and community representatives raise $6 for each $1 received from the fund to carry out preplanned community projects.

"We are proud of the work done by FFA members in activating community interest in their improvement projects," said John Stackhouse, Director of the Ohio Department of Agriculture. In 1976, thirty-eight FFA chapters took the lead in carrying through projects selected by local citizens of the community. They assisted in raising money and worked to complete the project. One thousand dollars was the maximum assistance any community received from the BPAC fund. The improvements included safety farm numbering systems, installing rural road signs, developing land laboratories for educational purposes, renovating cemeteries, establishing conservation areas, developing community parks, beautification, and illustrating improved conservation practices by holding large scale field days.

"FFA members have demonstrated an outstanding leadership role in securing the cooperation of local interests that was instrumental in the success of this program," Stackhouse said.

'Work Time' Means Rest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Look around the Capitol these days and members of Congress are hard to find.

The House hasn't met since last Wednesday. The Senate met last Friday, but won't meet again until Monday.

Before Congress became quite as sensitive about its reputation, this period was called the Lincoln Day recess. It was a time congressmen and senators made speeches marking the birthday of Abraham Lincoln and touched a few bases with the folks back home.

No one suggested there was anything scandalous about the recess unless a member of Congress chose the French Riviera as the site of his Lincoln Day speechmaking.

Times have changed. The congressional leadership has decided the word "recess" might imply that lawmakers are off playing when they ought to be working.

So, in case you hadn't noticed, the House is observing a "district work period," and the Senate is in a "non-legislative period."

'Aloha,' Stay Home

Residents of Hawaii for a long time have been enjoying the good life largely by providing accommodations to mainlanders trying to soak up some of the same atmosphere. Now some of the natives are wondering if they haven't oversold the beauties of their islands.

Governor George R. Ariyoshi, for one, has been complaining that Hawaii is becoming too crowded, and wonders what can be done to stop the influx. As a governor of Oregon discovered a couple of years ago when he, too, decided the natural beauties of his state could be best preserved by putting up "not welcome" signs, there is not much that can be done.

Nevertheless, residents of Hawaii have a point. With mushrooming skyscrapers all but obliterating the view, traffic jams providing the opposite of a relaxing atmosphere, pollution problems growing and costs soaring, the island paradise has become a bit tarnished.

Vacationers soon tire of resorts which provide wall to wall people and many of the problems they were seeking to escape. In time the economics of the matter may solve some of Hawaii's tourist crush. But what is a state to do when immigrants wanting to live there outpace its ability to support them without endangering the quality of life which is the main attraction?

Clean Up Times Square?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Two years ago next month, a real estate entrepreneur named Alex Parker bought the old New York Times Building in the heart of raunchy, crime-infested, porno-corrupted Times Square.

For what did he spend about $15 million?

"For the greatest challenge in my life," says Parker" - that's number one."

"But there is a fantastic side benefit. You know on New Year's Eve, when the ball drops from the top of my tower at midnight, and millions of people around the world watch and then hug and kiss each other?

"Well, consider this: I cause more people to kiss than anybody else in the world!"

It was the dropping-ball syndrome that hooked him in 1975 when friends at Allied Chemical, which then owned the financially troubled Times Square landmark, invited him to visit the building. "I walked in, and all I could think about was when I was a little boy in Brooklyn, coming over on New Year's Eve every year and feeling the thrill of suspense. Would it drop on time? Would my girl kiss me? When I walked in that building, I was a kid again. I thought, if I could buy this, it would be like buying the Eiffel Tower.

"It took me about two minutes to make up my mind."

Later, he found out what it costs him to let the ball drop - $25,000, every December 31st.

"It's a costly maneuver," he concedes, "but I wouldn't think of not dropping the ball. In fact, a reporter this year asked me what would happen if the ball didn't drop because of a malfunction, and I said - and I almost believe it - 17 million people down in the Square would take me up to the tower and drop ME."

Besides, the ball is great publicity, not only for his building but for the city of New York, both of which can use plenty of help.

Parker has never regretted his rather impetuous purchase but it has caused him, he says, to "sleep faster - because there's so much I want to do, to clean up the Times Square area around the building, so people won't be afraid to come there. I want to see Times Square the glamorous, exciting amusement center it was before the terrifying element came in with the porno dealers and the prostitutes and the teen gangs."

He has revitalized his building: renamed it Number One Times Square, installed a Song Writers Hall of Fame, a Science Fiction Hall, and is preparing a Disney-oriented attraction called "The Happy Store," a restaurant called "The Front Row," and an outdoor sidewalk eatery to be titled "Cafe de la Bagel."

But all the attractions and amenities will be insufficient unless the area is cleaned up. "My building is the web to seduce the fly into my parlor," he says, "but the flies won't come if the crooks are hanging out sticky paper."

So Alex Parker is trying hard for a solution:

"I'm a one-man rampage to get the city to condemn the buildings that hold the porno movies, the massage parlors and hustler hangouts - and replace them with a giant Times Square Convention Center. There are four essential words which would clean up Times Square: 'for the public good.' Condemnation 'for the public good'."

Parker claims to have businessmen ready to invest in the building of a Convention Center of hotels, apartments and theaters - the Center to run from 40th to 43rd Streets and from Seventh to Eighth Avenues - if New York City can be convinced to condemn the decaying structures now there. The City would have to pay $60 million, the fair value of the condemned buildings, but Parker says the investment would be quickly turned into a profit, with the city reimbursed financially, and the complex turning Times Square into an economic attraction for visitors, rather than an eyesore. The catch is that three other areas of Manhattan are striving for the much needed Convention Center site and, although a study group found Times Square to be the number one location as a likely spot - "political clout counts," says Parker.

"I make little ripplies in this city, not big waves."

If the Convention Center scheme doesn't work, he hopes to clean up Times Square another way. "This area went sharply downhill as our laws and attitudes became liberalized. I'm trying to get citizens to go to City Hall and say to Mayor Beame, 'Sir, the next time you appoint a judge, get one who will abide by the laws. We don't want a vigilante for a judge, but we don't want the kind of nice guys we've had, who put an arm around habitual criminals, stick them in jail for three minutes, and then let them out to go back to their old line of work."

The laws on the books right now, insists Parker, can be interpreted for the benefit of the majority of the eight million citizens, or for the minority who break them. "In the last 15 years, they've been interpreted for the benefit of the animals," he says.

Almost everybody he knows thinks Parker is doomed in his solo effort to clean up Times Square: "To my face they say it - Parker is dead. The undertaker knows it, but he doesn't. But I'm a very optimistic person, and a capitalist. I love people and I love my building, and they both deserve a better break. Pornography is the second biggest business in the world (after gambling) but it can be licked, through condemnation. Let those who say it can't be done get out of the way."

NEW YORK (AP) — A tax on individuals whose eating-drinking habits and life styles have the potential of driving up the nation's health care costs is being advocated by a prominent doctor and public health official.

Although he didn't say how the tax might be levied, Dr. Kerr White, who made the proposal, said it would be aimed at encouraging sound health care habits and discouraging practices considered to be both unhealthy and costly.

In a paper prepared for a conference today on Future Directions in Health Care, White said that change in personal behavior would be a sure means for reducing the risks and costs of many common disorders.

"We can start with hand washing after elimination, avoiding excessive caloric intake, abstaining from alcohol consumption before driving, using automobile seat belts, obtaining adequate rest, taking regular exercise, and avoiding cigarette tobacco smoke," he said.

Asked if his proposal wouldn't be construed as an invasion of personal privacy, White snapped: "You can't have it both ways." The people responsible for rising health care costs must be prepared to pay, he said.

White said his ideas would in no way interfere with the manner in which a person chooses to live his or her life, but would merely allocate to them rather than to the public the costs involved.

The special tax also would be levied on companies whose products and practices are harmful to health, said White, director of the United Fund's Institute for Health Care Studies and former professor at Johns Hopkins University Medical School.

"Each firm would estimate and report its own health care tax in accordance with national formulas and these could be periodically audited in much the same way the Internal Revnue Service audits individual income tax returns," he said.

White also called for graduated health care taxes on products such as alcohol, cigarettes with high tar and nicotine content, junk foods, soft drinks and automobiles sold without safety-belt systems.

He said the revenue from such taxes would be used "to offset the costs of providing the inevitable medical care the consumers of these products will experience."

The two-day conference for which White's views were prepared, is sponsored jointly by the Institute of Medicine, the Rockefeller Foundation, the Blue Cross Association and the California Health Policy Program.

In answer to a question, White said he was not simply attempting to get the subject discussed more openly but was making a serious proposal. "I prefer it to regulation," he said.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My doctor suspects that I may have an ulcer of the stomach. He wants to make studies of my intestines. This is all right with me. He wants to do them in his office, but this I don't understand. My insurance company says they will not pay for the X-rays unless I go to the hospital. Isn't that unreasonable?

—Mr. G. H., Ky.

Dear Mr. H.:

I have long since given up trying to understand the fine print of an insurance policy. In fact, I've been given up trying to explain their reasoning about matters such as you describe.

Many hospital beds are unnecessarily used because insurance companies seem to believe that only a hospital stay justifies elaborate X-ray studies.

In reality, many of these tests can be made with as fine a degree of accuracy in the doctor's office. This spares the patient time away from work and family. Also, hospitalization frequently increases the patient's anxiety.

There are many tests which cannot be done in the doctor's office. For these, hospitalization is the only answer.

A letter from your doctor is usually sufficient to convince the insurance company that they, you, the doctor and the hospital will benefit by the doctor's plan.

I'm 16 and have bow legs. I hear there's an operation to correct this. Am I too old for this?

Miss R.I., Va.

Dear Miss I.:

Numerous operations are now being tried to correct marked bowing of the legs. Each case is individually studied by surgeons and, after careful evaluation, surgery may be considered.

The opinion of an orthopedic suregon will give you all the information you need and will advise you whether you are a candidate for this operation from the point of view of age.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . . The over-tired, "indispensable" executive is always shocked by the realization that his business flourishes without him during an illness. In many instances, that illness might have been avoided by rest and the absence of stress.

Welfare Chief Under Fire From Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — While most agencies have attempted to help Ohioans laid off because of the energy crisis, there has been "one glaring exception" according to an attorney who says in a legal motion that welfare Director Kwegyir Aggrey should be punished for contempt of federal court.

Robert L. Mullinax, attorney for the Ohio State Legal Services Association in Columbus, brought the action in U.S. District Court on Feb. 11.

He represented the Greater Cleveland Welfare Rights Organization in a 1974 suit against the welfare department over food stamps availability.

In January 1975, Federal Judge Robert Duncan approved a 20-point consent order in the suit which required the department to work harder to reach persons eligible for food stamps.

Although the case has been appealed by the state, the consent order still stands.

Many newly unemployed persons have never before needed cash or food assistance from the welfare department and have not been informed of the benefits available to them, Mullinax said in a memorandum to support the motion.

Mullinax charged that Aggrey has never complied with requirements in the consent order including operation of a food stamp hotline for 98 hours a week; hiring one full-time state coordinator, one full-time coordinator for the elderly, and one full-time coordinator for Applachians, and providing transporation to food stamp certification centers.

Mullinax said he wrote to Aggrey before filing the motion, but received no answer.

Aggrey and assistant director Raymond McKenna could not be reached for comment Monday.

No date has been set for a hearing.

Your child's sore throat may be nothing to worry about — or it might be a "strep" infection. Without proper treatment, it could lead to rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease. Ask your local Heart Association.

Auto Talks Scheduled In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — No new bargaining sessions were scheduled today as contract talks remained suspended in the 10-day old strike against Rockwell International car and truck component plants in six states.

The walkout by 6,000 United Auto Workers at 11 plants already has forced the shutdown of a truck plant and could trigger additional plant closings if a settlement is not reached soon, two of Detroit's automakers warned.

Ford Motor Co. shut its medium and heavy-duty truck plant in Louisville, Ky., last Thursday, and said the facility would remain closed all this week because of a shortage of hoods supplied by Rockwell. The shutdown has idled some 3,500 hourly Ford workers.

Chrysler Corp., which purchases car seat recliner mechanisms and a variety of light-truck suspension parts from Rockwell, said the walkout eventually would disrupt production.

Rockwell and the UAW have held no negotiations on a new three-year national contract since talks were broken off Feb. 6. However, bargaining on non-economic local issues not covered by the master agreement were continuing, a UAW spokesman said.

Company and union spokesmen say the main issue in dispute is a union demand for additional paid days off — a key provisions won in contracts with the Big Three car makers last fall.

The UAW struck Rockwell plants in Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kentucky and Indiana on Feb. 5, after the old pact expired.

In other labor developments Monday, bargaining resumed in Milwaukee on a new contract covering 13,500 American Motors Corp. workers in the United States and Canada.

Site Unsuitable For Transfer Station

Pickaway County Commission Chairman Robert Liston reported yesterday county owned property just west of the Scioto River along Route 22 is unsuitable for a solid waste transfer station.

Liston reported it would be impossible to construct the station above flood level at the site. They are continuing a search for a suitable site should they decide to construct the transfer station rather than a sanitary landfill.

Jane Danduren of Danduren and Howell Insurance, visited commissioners Monday to discuss liability insurance for all county employes. She said that within two weeks she could offer commissioners an estimate of the cost of such an insurance program.

Prosecuting Attorney James Kingsley requested commissioners approve $2,778 matching funds for the legal intern program from May 1977 until May 1978. Kingsley said that with the intern program he could operate the prosecuting attorney's office without an assistant. Commissioners Liston, Donald Strous and Carl Schein approved the request.

Kingsley also noted he has advised the clerks and trustees of all townships that claims for damage to personal property caused by snow removal operations must be considered on a case by case basis. He has advised the townships to have the claims submitted in writing so they can be considered properly.

Edgar Harral, chairman of the trustees and clerks association, and John Fissell, secretary, reported to commissioners that requests for disaster aid have been properly submitted but notification has not been received yet whether the county will be eligible for any aid.

John Leist, coordinator of disaster services, reported that during five days when the disaster services were operating, 187 requests for aid were answered. Of these 94 were for fuel oil, 16 for coal, 24 for food and 53 for other needs.

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff Monday requested commissioners to purchase a 4-wheel drive vehicle to replace the wrecked one presently owned by the department. Liston told the sheriff the request would have to be tabled for the present. He pointed out that regular patrol cars must come first and there might not be enough additional money to purchase the 4-wheel drive vehicle. The sheriff noted that since the original vehicle was purchased by the auxiliary, it had become a very necessary piece of equipment for the department.

The sheriff also requested commissioners to provide hospitalization for the deputies.

Mike Melson of Pickaway County Community Action reported that PICCA is looking for a site for the head start program. He said the Lutheran Parish House is no longer available.

Judge Ammer Denies Shock Probation For Defendants

William Ammer, judge of the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, denied motions for shock probation filed by two men.

They are Robert Lee Leitwein, 19, Columbus, and Thomas P. McNamara, 18, 923 S. Washington St.

In denying Leitwein's motion for shock probation, Judge Ammer noted the defendant's prior criminal activities, the seriousness of the offense, and his involvement in other criminal activities.

He was charged June 3 with aggravated burglary and petty theft after breaking into a residence in the northeastern part of the county with two other men and taking money and merchandise.

On Aug. 9, he was sentenced by Judge Ammer to a term of from 4 to 25 years in the Mansfield Reformatory on the burglary charge and a six month term on the petty theft charge.

In denying McNamara's plea for shock probation, Judge Ammer noted the defendant's prior criminal activities and the numerous theft offenses involved.

McNamara was charged Aug. 13 with receiving stolen property.

On Aug. 18, he pled guilty to the charge and was sentenced to a term of from 18 months to five years in the Mansfield Reformatory.

Judge Ammer ordered a presentence report on Charles E. Thomas, Columbus, after he pled guilty yesterday to charges of breaking and entering and grand theft.

Thomas was charged Sept. 19 with breaking into the Hall-Adkins Post, American Legion, and taking money and merchandise.

A co-defendant has been previously sentenced to a penal institution after being indicted Nov. 5.

Playhouse Shows Egan In Comedy

Richard Egan, television and film star, is presently playing in a hilarious new comedy called "Hanky Panky," at the Country Dinner Playhouse in Reynoldsburg.

His movie career began in 1949 with "The Return of the Frontiersman," followed by "the Good Humor Man." "Molly" and "The Damned Don't Cry" among others.

His present comedy role at the playhouse, Egan plays the handsome and virile neighbor to a girl who is having a platonic affair with a married man. The soap-opera type comedy show continues because the married man refuses to marry his lover until he divorces his wife in eight years.

Egan won a Laurel Award in 1957 as a topliner box-office star and his television series, "Empire" and "Redigo," led him to be included in the top ten per cent of show business performer in 1963 by the Home Testing Institute.

Hanky Panky will run at the Playhouse through March 13. Matinees are scheduled on Feb. 13, 19, 27 and March 5, 6, 9 and 12.

Party Given For Volunteers

The patients of Brown Memorial Home gave "A Party for Our Volunteers" on Sunday afternoon. The idea of the party, which originated with the Patients' Council, was to give recognition and show appreciation to the people in the community who regularly perform volunteer services for the home.

Among those honored were representatives from the First Baptist Church, the Kitchen Band and Friendly Visitors of the Pickaway Senior Citizens Center, the Red Cross, Circleville Bible College, Outreach Ministries, Twig No. 4, and several individuals who share their time and talents with the home.

The party was unique in that all planning and preparations were made by the patients themselves. The refreshments were planned and made by Alda Bartley, Dean Bingman, Wanda McClure, Frieda Mader, Clarissa Talbut, Frances Held, Mae Parcels, Esther Skaggs, Etta Donohoe, Josephine Norman, Bernice George, and Lula Smith. Mrs. Donohoe and Mrs. Smith registered the guests, and Mrs. Mader and Mrs. McClure served refreshments. Mrs. Norman presented a welcome and then introduced the entertainment for the afternoon, the Bowery Boys, a barbershop quartet from Columbus.

Brown Memorial Home is very thankful for its many volunteers. According to Charlotte Gurney, Activity Director, "Volunteer services are essential in providing a well rounded program for our patients. We are currently looking for volunteers to help expand our fitness and crafts programs, but we welcome any groups or individuals who want to help. I think they will find it is a most rewarding experience."

LIGHT SUPPER

Potato-leek soup, rolls, fresh pears, cheese.

Potato-Leek Soup

Hearty and delicious!

2 large leeks, ½ pound
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup thinly sliced celery, 2 medium ribs
1 pound (scant) potatoes
3 chicken bouillon cubes dissolved in 3 cups boiling water
2 cups milk
Salt and pepper to taste

Quarter leeks to include green tops; wash thoroughly; slice thin — there should be 2 cups packed. In a large saucepot melt the butter; add leeks and celery and cook gently, stirring often, until softened but not brown — about 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, pare potatoes and thinly slice — there should be 2 generous cupfuls packed. Add potatoes and bouillon to saucepot; simmer, covered, until potatoes are tender — about 20 minutes.

Put through a food mill or puree in an electric blender of food processor; return to saucepot. Add milk and salt and pepper and heat. If thicker than you like, add more milk and correct seasoning; if thinner, simmer to reduce. Makes 1 to 1¼ quarts.

Wedding Plans Are Finalized

Plans have now been completed for the wedding ceremony of Janalee Taylor and William Jay Eitel.

The tradition of open church will be observed for the 2:30 p.m., February 20 ceremony at the Trinity Lutheran Church, Circleville.

A reception will be held immediately following the service in the church basement.

AAUW Supports Reading Program

Volunteers from the Circleville Branch of the American Association of University Women will soon begin this year's distribution of RIF books in Pickaway County. Reading is Fundamental is a national program designed to give motivation for reading by making inexpensive books available to young children. In the local program each child chooses three books that become his to keep.

Children receiving the books are those whom the teachers and principals feel would benefit most and need motivation to read and learn.

In 1976 fourteen elementary schools in the county received RIF books. A total of 1899 books were given to 633 children.

The Circleville Branch AAUW solicits about one thousand dollars annually to provide the needed books. Last year $950 in funds was provided by AAUW members and their fund drives, personal contributions of parents, PTA and PTB associations, and community and civic groups in the county. It is hoped that this year additional money can be secured by a matching grant in federal funds.

Circleville is fortunate to be one of over 400 communities in 47 states being served by the RIF program.

Donations may be mailed to Mrs. Bill Lyle, Knollwood Village, Circleville. Funds donated are used solely for the purchase of books.

Elizabeth Valentine Is Host To Circle 5

The February breakfast meeting of Circle 5, Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, was held in the home of Elizabeth Valentine, 200 Walnut Creek Pike.

Florence Mason was the winner of the contest conducted during the fellowship hour.

It was noted that the Big Bear Luncheon is scheduled for March 8, and tickets may be purchased from circle members.

United Methodist Women will hold a Bible Study at the church, March 6, and the Inter-Church meeting is scheduled for March 31.

Names of prayer partners were distributed.

Mrs. Dorothy Yocom, wife of the Rev. Donald E. Yocom, was welcomed as a new member.

Program Leader, Patty Kirkwood, used the theme "Lord, What Can I Do?" That the purpose of this particular program is to remember that as Methodist Women we minister to individual persons, not statistics.

The next regular meeting will be held March 9, in the home of Delorice Bennington. Program leader will be Elaine Bowman.

Add small, tender spinach leaves to lettuce when you are preparing a tossed salad. If there are fresh mushrooms in the refrigerator slice a few of these and add, too; raw mushrooms give delightful flavor when added to spinach and lettuce plus oil-and-vinegar dressing.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Lives In Fear Of Dead Message

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman who just turned 25. I have two small children, and I'm living in fear that I will not live to see them grow up.

When I was 13, I was fooling around with a Ouija board, when I got a message from my dead grandmother saying she would see me in heaven on my 26th birthday, meaning I was going to die on that day in an accident.

I told my husband about my fears, telling him to marry again soon after I die so my children won't be without a mother, and he said, "That Ouija board stuff is a lot of bunk, so forget it."

Abby, for some reason, I can't forget it. I am not afraid to die. If God wants me, I'm ready to go, but I only have 11 months to prepare myself if the Ouija was right.

Have you or any of your readers ever had any experiences with a Ouija board? I'm terribly confused and very frightened.

W. Va. READER

DEAR READER: I agree with your husband. While I respect the right of others to believe as they wish, I have yet to find a shred of convincing evidence to support the theory that the living can communicate with the dead.

I urge you to put those frightening thoughts of impending death out of your head, dear.

DEAR ABBY: My grandchildren live out of state. They are old enough to write, but they never acknowledge my gifts. I spend a lot of time shopping for things I think they will enjoy, and my presents are never cheap.

Please don't tell me to stop sending them gifts. You know a grandmother can't forget her grandchildren on their birthdays, Christmas and Easter. So what do you advise?

FORGOTTEN GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Send them each a box of "thank you" notes for Easter. That's egg-actly what they need.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very handsome (and weak) man who does not hold up very well when faced ith temptation. He maintains that when a lady makes a pass at a gentleman, he should not insult her by turning her down, and he has no choice other than to oblige her.

I say he is out of his head, that a true gentleman would find a courteous way to decline. I would like your opinion.

ALABAMAN

DEAR AL: Your husband should first get his terms straight. If a woman makes a pass at a man, she's no "lady." And if the man obliges her, he's no "gentleman." And if your husband is practicing what he preaches, you'd better lock him up before his "chivalry" kills him.

Bridge Club Team Event

The Circleville Duplicate Bridge Club will hold the first session of a two session team event on Wednesday, February 16 at 7:00 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, Route 23. This is part of the Grand National Team Championships of the American Contract Bridge League.

Team captains and the first round pairings are: Mike Yunker vs Vince De Frank; Ish Gearhart vs Lois Crawford; Louise McGeehan vs Mary Harrison; George Huskey vs Ben Briner; Gary Sahr vs Dieter Droste; Kate Harden vs Dave Johnson; Ed Farynowski vs Pat Turner.

Bridal Shower Honors Miss Jan Taylor

A bridal shower in honor of Jan Taylor, bride elect of Bill Eitel, was held Febraury 10, in the home of Mrs. Ron Eitel, 202 Northridge Road. Cohostesses were Mrs. Henry Eitel and Mrs. Monroe White.

Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Becky Goff and Mrs. Karen Seum. They presented their gifts to the guest of honor.

Following the games the bride-elect opened the gifts.

Refreshments of cake with ice cream and punch were served to all guests.

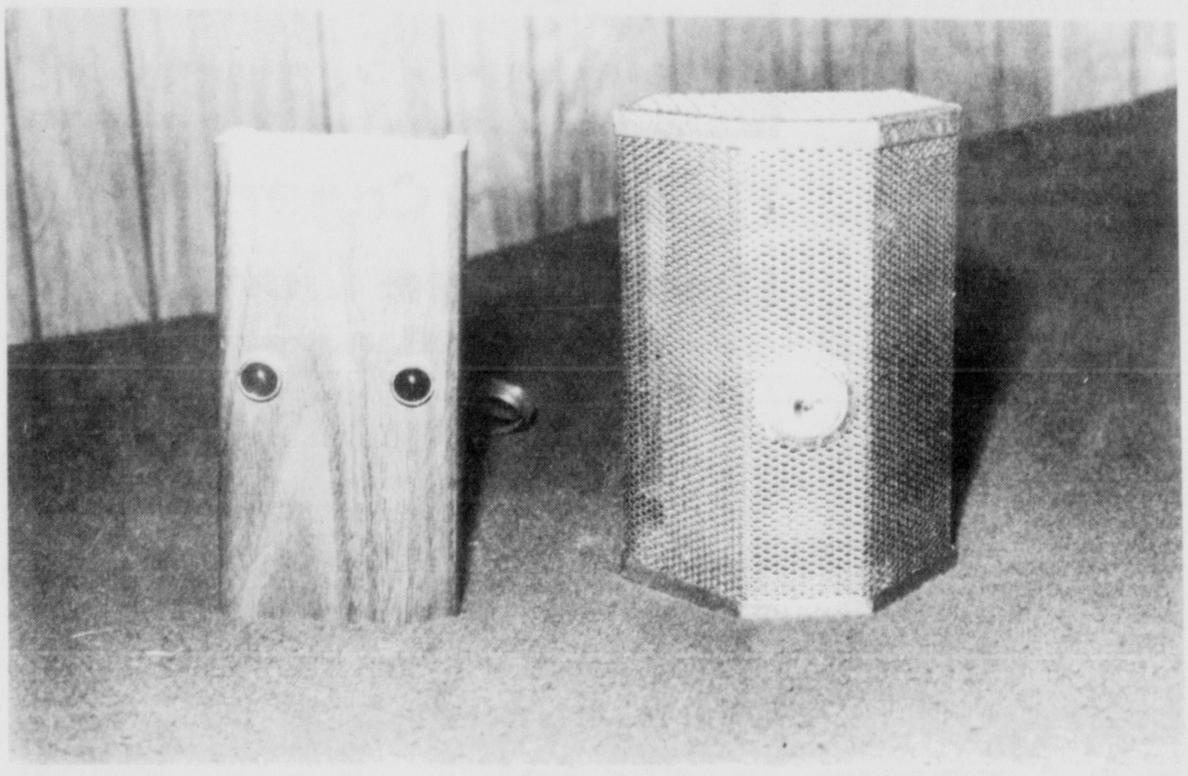
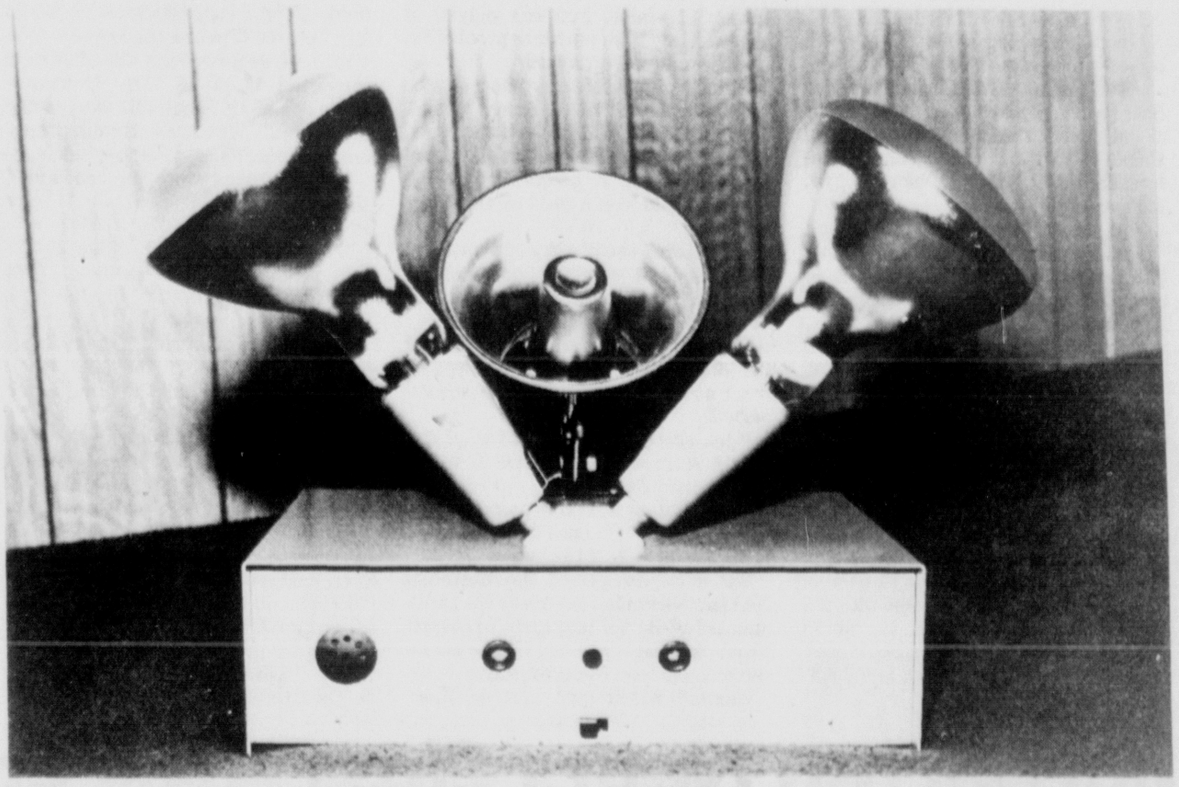
Don't Gamble, Get The Everguard System Today



THESE ARE two devices that could save your life. On the left is the Everguard Tri-Tector, which will detect heat, smoke, or gas. On the right is the Everguard Heat detector. Both devices, if properly installed, will give you warning within one minute. The Everguard Systems have never had an injury or death in a home that their alarms have been installed in. You can check into the Everguard Systems at the Hedges Alarm Systems by calling 474-7486, 969-4043, or 474-6143 anytime.



ALSO AVAILABLE from Hedges Alarm Systems are burglar alarms for your home or business. Pictured above is the commercial model of the Sound Alert system, which can also be used in the home if you desire. The Sound Alert Systems can be wired to the lights inside and outside your home, and you can also attach additional electronic sirens if you wish. The Sound Alert Systems can also be hooked into your telephone, or the telephone of your local law enforcement agency.

If a fire broke out in your house tonight, would you be able to get your family out in time to prevent serious injury or even death? Consider these facts:

Every day more than 7,500 fires occur in the United States. Every 45 seconds, on the average, fire breaks out in a home. Every 44 minutes, fire claims a life. Fires in homes account for about 70 per cent of the nation's building fires. Fires now rank second in accidential deaths. Over 2,000,000 people are seriously burned each year. Each year more children under the age of 14 die from fire than from all children's diseases combined. On the average, every home owner has at least one fire every 12 years. Ninety-four per cent of the people are killed by poisonous gases and super heated air. Between 11 and 17 poisonous gases are given off in an average fire. One and three tenths of a per cent of carbon monoxide is fatal within a few minutes. Probably the most important statistic of these is that 85 per cent of fatal home fires occur between midnight and 6 a.m., when you and your family are sleeping.

The above statistics are not meant as a type of scare tactic. They are cold, hard, and sobering facts.

An item on the market today that is making people more aware of the danger of fire is the home smoke detector. But like any other item, a smoke detector can be good, or it can be a slipshod product. And when investing in an item as important as a smoke detector, it only makes sense to check out the market to make sure that you can depend on what you're buying.

One brand of smoke detector that you can depend on is the Everguard brand of heat and smoke detectors. In Pickaway County they are available from the Hedges Alarm System. Dick Hedges, Dale Edwards, and Jack Randle operate the business.

Hedges and Edwards are veteran members of the Circleville Fire Department, and over the years they have seen many instances where a heat or smoke detector could have saved lives and property.

What makes the Everguard system so reliable? Probably the single most important factor in the Everguard system is that the units operate on Freon gas. If a fire was to knock out your home's electrical system, or if the battery another brand was to go weak, you could still depend on the Freon gas in the Everguard system to work.

The Everguard brand is so dependable that its manufacturers unconditionally guarantee the heat and smoke detectors for 30 years. If anything would go wrong with your detector from Everguard, it would not be fixed, rather a completely new unit would be installed free.

The Everguard system is both UL and FM tested and approved. It is also approved by every state Fire Marshall in the states where it is sold. And the Everguard system is highly recommended by the Hartford Insurance Company.

The Everguard Tri-Tector will detect any gas but pure oxygen. A heat sensitive device within the Tri-Tector will continuously filter the air going through it back to pure oxygen, and if any gas in the device cannot be filtered back to pure oxygen, then the alarm will be triggered.

The Everguard Heat Alarm will alert you to a possible fire with one minute at a ceiling temperature of 136 degrees Fahrenheit. The Tri-Tector model will sound at a ceiling temperature of 131 degrees Fahrenheit with one minute.

Get in touch with the Hedges' Alarm System salesmen at your earliest convenience. A free home demonstration is available, and Dick Hedges reports that installation is free. Contact Hedges at 474-7486, Edwards at 969-4043, or Randle at 474-6143, and you can call anytime.

Remember the facts cited earlier. Although very expensive, you can put a price tag on your home, but a price cannot be put on a person's life. Check out the Everguard system today. As Hedges stated, "If any of these items saves even one life, it is worth the money to invest in them."

Red-Hot Mustangs Roll Over Unioto

By TOM SPRING
Herald Staff Writer

Westfall's senior center Larry Bilek put on a one-man scoring show as he scored 13 of his team's 15 points in one time sequence and ripped the cords for 26 points as the Mustangs defeated Unioto 60-54 in Scioto Valley Conference action on the victors' gym Monday night.

The six-foot three-inch Mustang scored 11 field goals and four foul shots and pulled down seven rebounds in turning in one of the best performances of his career.

Another Westfall standout, sophomore forward Bruce Starkey hit on seven goals and four charity tosses for 18 markers and led his teammates with nine rebounds.

Jeff Mowery added six, John Long and Chris Weaver each hooped four and Tom Adams scored two points to account for Westfall's scoring.

Unioto's leader was Garry Proehl who canned eight goals for 16 points. Helping him were Kevin Davis with 12, Mark Davis who rimmed 10, while George Berry, Monty Elam and Steve Barr fired four points apiece and John Dennewitz added two.

The game was technically a home game for Unioto but was played at Westfall due to the heating problem at the Shermans' high school.

Things didn't look too good for the Mustangs when Proehl opened scoring with a two-pointer and Westfall missed its first three free throws but Bilek and Starkey ran up 17 points together as the local lads took a 19-12 first quarter edge.

Both teams used balanced scoring in the second frame but the Shermans got a couple of breaks late in the quarter to narrow the gap to 32-28.

Westfall's man-to-man defense had the Shermans running and shooting from outside until late in the second period.

Bilek scored his only bucket of the frame at 1:45 and followed it in the next canto with 10 more.

Westfall built up a five point edge at 1:44 but five quick ones by Unioto tied the game up 44-44 at the buzzer.

But, in the last period, the Mustangs held the Shermans scoreless for three minutes while lighting the scoreboard seven straight times and Unioto never came closer than five afterwards.

Westfall hit 50 per cent of their buckets making 24 of 48 shots from the field. Unioto connected on 26 of 60 attempts for 43 percentage points.

At the free throw line, the Mustangs converted 12 of 21. The Shermans made two of six shots, all taken in the second half. Westfall committed only four personal fouls in the first half.

The Mustangs were out-rebounded 31-29 but committed four less turnovers than the 22 Unioto made.

Westfall Head Coach Mike Eckle said of his Valentine present, "We showed some class . . . in the last quarter and came back."

"I couldn't ask any more than we got out of Bruce Starkey," he said. "Bilek played the second half the best he has all year.

"We got a real good defensive effort in the second half out of Larry List and got good floor games out of Tommy Adams and John Long," Eckle said.

The coach also credited senior Neil Keller who "came off the bench and did a good job for us in the first half."

Eckle said the team will be working to improve its defense and foul shooting in preparation for the Friday night game against visiting Southeastern. Westfall's record is 5-7.

The Little Mustangs won 45-32 over the Tanks.

Coach Dennis Karshner's charges led 12-6, 21-16 and 35-24 enroute to the win.

Kevin Creamer led the team with 12 points, Mark List canned nine, Dan Schleich fired eight, Randy Hartzell swished in six, Greg Cooper shot four, H. L. Gibson, Randy Darst, and Gene Bailey each added two.

They host Southeastern Friday.

Tiger Girl Cagers Upend Blue Lions

Circleville girl cagers opened their South Central Ohio League play Monday night with a convincing 57-25 win over visiting Washington C. H.

Coach Joy O'Brien's girls were in complete command all the way as they led 21-5, 36-7, 48-18 and 57-25.

The Tigers employed a fast break and a tight defense to stop the Blue Lions and keep control of the game.

Coach O'Brien used her bench to full advantage and everyone saw action for at least two quarters.

Sue Radcliff led the Tigers with 13 points, Sue Frericks and Sue Stevenson each added 10, Mary Wyatt hooped seven, Natalie Martin netted six, Michelle Nolan tallied four, Ann Titus had three and Brenna Lintner sank two.

The Red and Black had a good night from the floor as they hit 23 of 56 for 41 per cent and converted 11 of 26 from the charity stripe.

Washington C. H. was nine of 69 from the hardwood for 13 per cent and hit seven of eleven from the foul line for 41 per cent.

Circleville won the battle of the boards, 53-26, with Sue Frericks, Sue Stevenson, Natalie Martin and Brenna Lintner getting the job done.

The Tigers had 23 turnovers while Washington C. H. misplayed the ball 28 times.

Circleville's reserves suffered a narrow 27-26 setback at the hands of the Blue Lions.

Penny Perkins led the Tigers with 13 points, Melissa Allison netted 10, Cathy Price tallied two and Karen Lundberg had one.

Circleville is now 4-1 for the season, 1-0 in the league, and will be at Wilmington 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and at Hillsboro 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Barberton Nears Class AAA Cage Crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Barberton, the Class AAA pacesetter, makes a wary trip to Alliance Friday night, apparently one victory away from The Associated Press' Ohio big school basketball trophy.

The mythical state championships are not that near for the other division leaders, West Lafayette Ridgewood in Class AA and Morral Ridgedale in Class A.

Each had four regular season games to play starting with this week. They will be among the contenders making up at least one contest after Saturday night.

For that reason, The AP ratings are being extended one week and the winners will not be decided until the first week of March.

Alliance is only 8-6 to Barberton's 17-0, but the Aviators are the last team to master the Magics during regular season play. They did it two seasons ago. Since then, Barberton has lost only once, that in a regional tourament game to Canton McKinley.

Barberton's two-season victory string, counting tournament action, has reached 43 games.

Such statistics led to a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters according the Magics 311 points, highest total in any division in this season's ratings.

Only No. 2 Columbus LindenMcKinley (15-0) and third-place Elyria (15-0) are giving Barberton any argument in the big school poll. Linden-McKinley has 243 points and Elyria 222. No other contender has more than 174 points.

The other races are slightly closer. Ridgewood (14-0) has a 254-208 edge on runnerup Columbus Mifflin (14-1) in AA while in A Ridgedale (13-1) is ahead of No. 2 Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South (13-2) 268-222.

In AAA, Lebanon (14-0) moved up one position to fourth and Warren Western Reserve (15-1) one to fifth. Dayton Roth, beaten only once in 13 games through last weekend, made the biggest advance, going from 10th to sixth.

Springfield South (12-1) slipped one spot to seventh, Newark (13-2) four rungs to eighth, Cleveland East Tech (13-2) two to ninth while Cincinnati Elder (12-2) made its first appearance of the season in the Top Ten, taking over No. 10 from Canton Timken.

In AA, Tiltonsville Buckeye South (15-0) jumped one position to third, trading places with Bellefontaine. Cleveland Latin went from eighth to fifth, Akron South again was sixth, Wheelersburg fell from fifth to seventh, Columbus St. Charles up one to eighth, East Palestine dipped from seventh to ninth and Warsaw River View kept 10th.

In A, Versailles and Oak Hill accounted for the biggest advances, seventh to third and 10th to sixth. Richmond Dale Southeastern was fourth, Ada fifth, Stryker seventh, Cardington eighth, Mansfield St. Peter's ninth and New Bremen No. 10.

Sparky Confident Of Upcoming Season

CINCINNATI (AP) — A confident Sparky Anderson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, looks toward spring training less than two weeks away with no problems and only one job to fill.

"Really," said Anderson in a prepared statement, "the only position we have open on our club going into spring training, other than pitching, is the spot that (Dan) Driessen had on the bench last year."

Driessen was named to the first base job after veteran Tony Perez was traded to the Montreal Expos over the winter.

"We had a fine bench last season, with Bob Bailey, Mike Lum, Doug Flynn, Ed Armbrister, Bill Plummer and Joel Youngblood and we'll be solid there again," Anderson said.

Candidates for Driessen's bench job include left-hand minor league hitter Dave Revering, infielder Ray Knight or a third catcher, said Anderson.

Anderson said the two questions he has been hearing all winter are what is he going to do without a lefthander in the bullpen and can the Reds still be hungry after winning two consecutive World Series.

"I really hope those are the two biggest problems we've got because I'm sure not worried about either one of them," Anderson said.

Anderson said he used Rawley Eastwick as "my key guy in the bullpen last year anyway, whether he was facing a right-handed hitter or a lefty."

He said Eastwick and Dale Murray, who came as part of the Montreal trade, will be used in short relief roles and there will be two left-hand starters in the pitching rotation.

"I'd say that Woodie Fryman and Fred Norman are pretty solid starters, along with Gary Nolan and Pat Zachry," the right-handers. "We'll have to take a serious look at Jack Billingham (12-10 last season), Santo Alcala and two kids coming up from Indianapolis, Larry Payne and Tom Hume, to see where we go from there."

Anderson said he has no worries about club morale. "After all, we now have a chance to become the first National League team in history to win three straight World Championships.

Wildcats Second In League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky is the No. 2 basketball team in the nation. Unfortunately, for the Wildcats, they also are No. 2 in the Southeastern Conference.

The Wildcats demolished a strong Florida team 104-78 Monday night at Lexington, Ky., raising their season's record to 19-2 and their SEC record to 11-1. But Kentucky still trails 14th-ranked Tennessee, which beat Mississippi 87-75 and has a 12-1 conference record.

Florida Coach John Lotz has little doubt that Kentucky is the top SEC team, however.

"They have the talent to win the national championship," Lotz said after Kentucky's backcourt combination of Larry Johnson and Truman Claytor combined for 47 points. "I don't think San Francisco (the topranked team in the country) could come in here and play them. I'm not sure that San Francisco could beat them anywhere."

Tennessee stayed in first place in the conference, as Bernard King scored 22 of his 35 points in the second half after Mississippi had taken a 44-42 halftime lead. Ernie Grunfeld added 23 points for the Volunteers.

Elsewhere, ninth-rated Marquette lost for the second time in eight days as DePaul stunned the Warriors 77-72 in double overtime, No. 15 Detroit beat Western Michigan for the first time in history 86-64, 19thrated VMI clinched the Southern Conference regular-season championship with an 83-68 victory over Davidson, Notre Dame took Butler 97-74 and Indiana State, Ind., won its 20th game of the season, easing past Eastern Michigan 87-68.

Frank Verdi will manage Tidewater, Va., number one farm team of the New York Mets in the International League in 1977.

Inter-League Trades Set In Baseball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball's long-awaited second inter-league trading period got under way at midnight Monday and those teams which did not get what they wanted the first time can go shopping across league lines again.

Although 24 players switched leagues in 11 transactions during the first inter-league swap period from Oct. 26-Dec. 10, the Detroit Tigers still are seeking a second baseman and the New York Mets have been looking for a full-time third baseman since their birth in 1962.

In addition, the Milwaukee Brewers are offering Don Money for a power-hitting outfielder, a second baseman or a relief pitcher; the New York Yankees would like to get a shortstop, and Bill Veeck has promised to acquire a slugging outfielder for his Chicago White Sox.

The start of spring training is less than a week away, and the 26 major league clubs have until midnight March 15 to deal with teams in the opposite league.

In the first inter-league trading period, such players as Jeff Burroughs (Texas to Atlanta), Richie Zisk (Pittsburgh to the White Sox) and George Hendrick (Cleveland to San Diego) changed uniforms.

Last Friday's five-player deal that sent two-time National League batting champion Bill Madlock from the Chicago Cubs to San Francisco for Bobby Murcer — both still are unsigned — could open up things in the trading market. But there are fewer marketable players than ever because of the new free agent rules.

Joe Cronin, chairman of the board of the American League, served as player, manager, team executive and league president during his 45 years in baseball.

Braves Girls Nipped By CW Indians

The girls of Logan Elm dropped a 48-44 decision to Canal Winchester Monday in a Mid State League contest on the Indians' floor.

The Braves battled hard but just couldn't overcome the slight lead that the Indians held throughout the contest.

Logan Elm trailed at the end of each quarter, 11-7, 26-18, 37-34 ad 48-44.

Beth Bell led the Braves with 16 points, Diane Martin added 10, Deb Larson hooped seven, Annette Roof netted six, Patty Larson and Susan Delong both tallied two and Cheryl Hawkins had one. Annette Ebert was tops for Canal Winchester with 19 points.

Logan Elm's reserves really applied the defensive pressure to Canal Winchester to gain a 33-7 victory.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Braves led at the half 16-1 and were in front 22-1 at the third period buzzer.

Susan Delong was the leading scorer for the Braves with 10 points, Diane Weaver added eight, Kami Poling and Jackie Cave each hit four, Brenda Bell, Renee Cavender and Krista Luckhart all netted two while Lisa Watson had one.

Soviets Gain New Sports Image

NEW YORK (AP) — Alexander Metreveli looked over part of his new working wardrobe — a red sweat jacket with the familiar letters "CCCP" across the chest and a 12-inch star emblazoned on the back.

"Why not a hammer and sickle?" a visitor asked. Metreveli and his two female Soviet teammates appeared to stiffen.

Although all speak fluent English, none had an immediate response. It had to come from an American in the room — John Korff, youthful vice president and general manager of the newest franchise in the revolutionary concept known as World Team Tennis.

"We are avoiding political symbols," Korff said coldly. "This is a sports enterprise. The star is sufficient."

Korff, still in the process of completing a business course at Harvard, had the 33-year Metreveli and the Soviet's two brightest women stars — Olga Morozova, 26, and Natasha Chmyreva, 18 — flown to New York Monday to publicize one of the most intriguing gambles in sports, a Soviet franchise in a U.S. professional league.

The struggling Philadelphia Keystones bought an entire Soviet tennis stable — Metreveli, eight times Soviet champion; Ms. Morozova, runner-up to Chris Evert in 1974 at Wimbledon, the promising Miss Chmyreva plus three backup players — to play the 44-match season, starting April 26 in Indianapolis.

The Soviets won't even call Philadelphia home. They will be the league's gypsies, playing in 25 or 30 cities over the summer months, taking off only to compete at Wimbledon.

If you think the Soviet infusion will add a sinister note to the team tennis circuit, forget it. None of them has steel teeth. They don't go around gorging themselves on vodka and caviar. Don't look for any KGB secret police with dark overcoats and black hats to be stalking their every move.

They are a fresh, pleasant group — outgoing, outspoken, with all the polish that comes from playing the capitals of the world.

The leggy, blonde-haired Miss Chmyreva, hailed as a future Chris Evert, is in her second year on the international tour. A college freshman majoring in journalism, she is bright and effervescent.

Metreveli is a clean-cut, slightly-built athlete who hails from Tblisi, capital of the province of Georgia. He is a journalist and broadcaster, married and the father of two boys. Ms. Morozova is married to an engineer. Yet tennis takes them away from their families for months at a time.

"My husband, Viktor, does not worry," said Olga. "He knows I am very nice and know how to behave."

Since there are no professionals in the Soviet Union, the Russians receive only travel fare, hotel accommodations and $18 a day for meals at WTT players.

How does it feel to see other players, such as Sweden's Bjorn Borg, getting $1.5 million contracts, driving big cars and socking money away in the bank?.

Metreveli and Olga shrugged, but Miss Chmyreva popped up quickly:

"Anybody can drive a car," she said. "Not everyone can be a Master of Sport."

Barons Eye Survival

CHICAGO (AP) — The crisis appears ended for the Cleveland Barons, a National Hockey League franchise which came perilously close to a player auction last week and has been threatened for months with financial extinction.

"I saw some light at the end of the tunnel which I didn't see yesterday," NHL Board Chairman John Ziegler said after the Board of Governors concluded six hours of negotiations Monday in an effort to keep the franchise afloat.

Iowa Tops OSU After Bad Scare

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Iowa, an earlier 18-point victor over Ohio State, had just escaped with a 74-70 Big Ten basketball overtime triumph over the Buckeyes Monday night.

Lute Olson, the Hawkeyes' coach, shook his head and said, "We were lucky. Thank someone upstairs. Ohio State showed great courage considering its losing streak."

Carl Wulfsberg's two free throws with 19 seconds left in overtime gave Iowa its final margin and assured the Buckeyes of their eighth successive loss. They have yet to win at home this Big Ten season.

"Our people have a tremendous amount of pride," said Ohio State Coach Eldon Miller, in the midst of his longest losing spell as a 15-year college mentor.

"They really want to win—almost too much at times," said the man whose team sank deeper in the conference basement at 2-10. Ohio State is 7-14 for all games.

Iowa, which had rolled past the Buckeyes at home 84-66, moved to 6-5 in the Big Ten and 14-6 overall.

Ohio State overturned a 45-31 Iowa lead early in the second half, moving ahead 59-57 on a basket by Larry Bolden, who led the Buckeyes with 19 points.

Neither side mustered more than four-point leads down the stretch. Mike Daugherty's basket tied the game at 63-63 for Ohio State with 32 seconds left in regulation, forcing the overtime.

"Ohio State hung in there real well," said Olson. "Younger players of lesser caliber would have thrown in the towel."

"I'm a bit in total shock," said Loyola of Chicago coach, Jerry Lyne, of his team's 91-68 loss to Bowling Green.

"We didn't come to play. We didn't have much pride tonight. Bowling Green is not the best team in the Mid-American Conference but they played us the best," he added.

In Pennsylvania, St. Francis slipped by Kent State 66-63 despite Corteze Brown's game high 25-point performance. High scorer for St. Francis was Pat Sweeney with 15.

At Dayton, Wright State watched Cleveland State guard Greg Cobb pour through 22 points to lead his team to a 74-67 victory. The victory boosted the Cleveland team to 8-14 and dropped Wright State to 9-15.

Other Ohio college basketball scores Monday night: Youngstown 54, Westminster 53; Wooster 78, Kenyon 76; Steubenville 84, Alliance 75; Ashland 92, Wilberforce 56; Mt. Union 78, Ohio Northern 63; Marietta 102, Urbana 86; Walsh 87, Mt. Vernon 78; Cedarville 89, Rio Grande 70.

Hill Helps Flyers Top Blues, 6-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — At 11 a.m. Monday the telephone rang in Al Hill's apartment in Springfield, Mass.

"Report to the Philadelphia Flyers by 5 p.m.," a voice informed Hill, who still was trying to sleep off a three-hour bus ride from Rochester, N.Y., that got him home at 4:35 a.m.

Hill was not so groggy that he did not hear the word "Flyers." He wasted no time changing his identity from the Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League to the Flyers of the National Hockey League.

And the 21-year-old winger wasted no time making a quick impression on the NHL, collecting two goals and three assists in a 6-4 victory over the St. Louis Blues Monday night. Reportedly, no other rookie ever had five points in his first NHL game.

Hill, a handsome blond from Trail, B.C., performed his feat for a sellout crowd of 17,077, and the NHL's Game of the Week television audience. It was even more unusual when he scored on his first two shots. League publicist Ron Andrews could not say if that was a record.

Hill had to share the spotlight with Buffalo's Rene Robert, who scored three goals for the second night in a row as the Sabres trounced the Toronto

SPEAKMAN REALTY

HESITATION CAN BE COSTLY

Once you put real estate on the market, you have to make up your mind to move when the right offer comes. Your asking price should come pretty close to your selling price if you have priced your property realistically. The right offer may be your first offer, and if you turn it down, you may never get another as good.

However, the offer should be a written one — the only kind that has any real significance and on which you can depend.

Just remember that a legitimate offer should be accompanied by a good-sized check depending on the selling price. Never accept a verbal promise and take your property off the market. The next day, a good sale may be lost if you are tied up in this type of questionable transaction. You'll never have to worry about this situation arising if the sale of your property is in the hands of a Realtor.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some trends changing. Synchronize your activities to accomodate. Curb a tendency to become overly emotional in a relatively unimportant situation.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): An energetic alley may come to your support, personally or financially. Push all worthwhile aims. Especially favored: outdoor pursuits, organizational activities.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Friends and associates are working for you in the background, and you should soon profit from some efforts you have long since forgotten.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Especially favored now: speedup action on pending projects; making revisions in ventures that didn't quite jell prviously; real estate interests.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Mixed influences. Some fine advantages possible, but it will be important to watch the budget and not to overcommit yourself to future expenditures.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Aspects not too friendly. Be tactful in speech, cautious in finalizing agreements. Some tricky spots indicated.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Your planets, highly auspicious, place you in line for success in substantial undertakings. A certain amount of daring favored now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): It will take patience, soft words and a great deal of humor to keep some things (and persons) in line now. But well worth it — and for a long time to come.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Avoid indecision and confusion. With much activity indicated, these could prove obstacles to success. Stress uncomplicated thinking and acting.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Some changing trends. Do not be dismayed. Accept with your inborn adaptability and foresight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You may have to deal with some "odd" persons — and situations. Be tactful if you would learn how to "communicate" and restore order.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Everyday matters need reviewing. Note where changes are needed, and make them efficiently. But do not alter smooth-running procedures merely for the sake of change.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an agile mind, an outgoing and gregarious personality and a delightful sense of humor. You are a person who should aim high and never stop increasing your fund of knowledge since, with it AND your versatility, you can achieve almost any goal upon which you set your heart and mind. Your leanings are toward the intellectual and the creative, and you could succeed as a journalist, painter, a drama or literary critic, as an educator or scientist. Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lou Grant, the sardonic, fireplug-shaped TV news director Ed Asner plays on CBS' "Mary Tyler Moore Show," began as a newspaperman. Next fall, he'll be rejoining the pad-and-pen brigade.

"Haven't seen the first script yet," said Asner, puffing on a cigarette in the den of his pleasant, sunny home here. "But I'm sure it'll show me as a 50-year-old man winding up in Los Angeles, looking for a new lease on life. And a job.

"And with my old newspaper contacts, I'm able to land a job on a major Southern California daily."

The job, as assistant city editor and a paper run by a strong-willed woman publisher, is a step down for Grant.

But for Asner, it's a step up to star billing in his own hour-long CBS series, an as-yet untitled newspaper show created by Allan Burns and James L. Brooks, who created "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" in 1970.

The MTM series is ending. Its last episode, on March 19, is about... well, let's just say Lou Grant, at an age many men start their pension-time countdown, finds he needn't worry about that at WJM-TV.

Which sets the stage for Asner's return next fall to newspapering, again playing Lou Grant, the old pro with a heart of gold and liver of steel, the classic scribe with a jug of firewater in his desk drawer.

Asner, regarded off-camera as one of this town's truly nice guys, reminds me of a few old newshawks I've known. It may be because he actually once worked on a newspaper in his home town, Kansas City, Kan.

That it was the Wyandotte High School newspaper makes no difference. You've got to start somewhere. Ed says he started as the paper's feature page editor, working with a lady co-editor.

"I handled all the gossip columns, did all the interviews," he explained. "At the same ime, I was playing football. It was one of the greatest honors my journalism teacher, Bill Corporon, paid me.

"He never thought I could do both and seemed to be enormously impressed that I found a way to wear both hats at the same time."

The Emmy-winning actor was asked if he'd ever considered going into the newspaper dodge when he was still in high school.

"I did," he said. "It intrigued me. The idea of writing for a living, being involved in politics, current events, always possessed me.

"I mentioned to Bill that I certainly was considering that as part of my future — I actually hadn't the vaguest damn idea of what I wanted to do — and he said, 'Nope, wouldn't advise it.'

"I said, 'Why not?' He says, 'Can't make a living.'"

Whereupon after graduation, Edward Asner enrolled in the University of Chicago and commenced "foundering," he says, in his studies. He drifted into acting. It claimed him for keeps.

The first woman presidential candidate was Victoria Claffin Woodhull, nominated in 1872 by the National Radical Reformers.

Circe, according to Greek mythology, had the power to change men into beasts. When the Greek hero Odysseus resisted her spell, she fell in love with him.

'Quit Smoking' Heart Fund Drive Chairman Advises

"The bright side of smoking still deals with not smoking," said Dr. Michael E. Geron, Fund Drive, chairman, Pickaway County Heart Association.

"It is encouraging that damage to the heart and lungs can be repaired by the body itself, even after many years of smoking. Those who quit smoking have a lower mortality risk than those who continue. In time the amount of risk declines to the level of a non-smoker. The point is, it's never too late to quit.

"Anti-smoking groups are making inroads in this country," Dr. Geron said. He mentioned the federal bans on smoking in sections of planes, trains and busses. And legislative action in some states has restricted smoking in certain public places, on the basis of health, not fire.

"Still, although smoking among adults has declined slightly in recent years," said Dr. Geron, "the percentage of early teenage smokers especially among girls, has risen sharply. And that's too bad. A man who smokes a pack a day, for example, has double the risk of a heart attack, and five times the risk of stroke as the non-smoker."

Urging doctors, dentists and other professionals to get rid of ash trays in waiting rooms and install "Thank you for not Smoking" signs, Dr. Geron notes that health authorities have a long way to go in convincing millions of teenagers and adults not to smoke. "Mix smoking with high blood pressure and high levels of cholesterol in the blood," he said, "and you've got a deadly combination which can lead to heart attack and stroke. "Anyone can quit," he emphasized, "but it is hard to do." The Pickaway County Heart Association is fighting for your life in many areas, including smoking, and has free educational materials on smoking. They can also direct you to local smoking withdrawal programs," Dr. Geron concluded.

Liquor Permit Transfer Requested

Ohio Department of Liquor Control Director Clifford E. Reich announced today that applications for new liquor permits and transfers of location or ownership are now being processed by the department.

"The applicant and intended premises are investigated carefully before any decision is made regarding the issuance or denial of a permit," the director explained. "The usual time for the precessing of an application is about 45 days."

The department releases the names of persons applying for permits to the news media and to municipal and county officials for the purpose of obtaining all information pertinent to the application.

"We hope that persons who have objections to permits under consideration will inform the department immediately," Reich said. "We base our judgement to issue or deny on the quota of permits allowed in the area according to population and the findings of our investigations. If the applicant is qualified and there is an opening, we are required by law to issue the permit," the director concluded.

In Pickaway County, Larry D. Deitrich and Fred G. Hoover, doing business as Prairie Lanes, seeks to transfer their permit to Prairie Lanes, Inc., 1410 N. Court St., in Circleville.

The application for transfer was filed on Feb. 9 of this year and is a D5 permit, which is a night club license that would permit the sale of beer, wine, or spiritous liquor by-the-glass until 2:30 a.m.

Find Energy Layoffs Being Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government statistics show that more than half the persons put out of work this year by natural-gas shortages are back at work with the warm spell.

But Monday's reports from the Commerce Department and Federal Energy Administration also showed record-high American demand in January for petroleum products, almost half of it coming from foreign sources.

The FEA, meanwhile, was trying to alert oil refiners in the Northern Tier states of a Canadian offer to ship an additional 800,000 barrels of heavy crude oil to help ease this country's winter fuel problems. The offer was good only through today.

With five official weeks of winter left, after almost a week of temperatures at or above normal levels, further cold weather was predicted for the Great Lakes, Northern Plains, mid-continent and Gulf Coast areas.

Temperatures ranging from one to four degrees below normal were forecast for this week.

Commerce Department figures released Monday on gas shortage-related unemployment showed another 283,500 workers back on their jobs in the past few days.

The latest estimates indicated some 586,500 workers still unemployed because of the shortages as of the end of last week, compared to more than 1.2 million laid off at the height of the problem a few weeks ago.

Improvement was made in at least seven states, while unemployment in Alabama and New Jersey increased, the estimates show.

Road 511 Reopened

County Road 511 from the Bell Station Road north to Route 23 was opened for vehicular traffic late yesterday afternoon.

The section of road had been ordered closed since Saturday night because of possible structural deterioration of the southern railroad overpass.

The road was closed by the Pickaway County Highway Department after Sheriff's Deputies noticed cement falling from the short tunnel. It was ordered open by the department after 3 p.m. Monday following an inspection by engineers from the N&W Railroad.

While the road was closed, Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies arrested eight motorists for ignoring the closing.

They are Christopher Jenkins, 434 John St.; Mary Kuhn, Columbus; Edward Kahler, Denison, Tex.; Christopher McCargish, Columbus; Steven Isaac, Grove City; Deborah Wright, Gahanna; Ernest Richmond, Route 3; and David Urwin, Cambridge.
